

BELVEDERE

The ultimate entertainer's paradise, this contemporary Belvedere residence is designed to impress. Completely private with expansive views of Tiburon and Belvedere Cove, the approximately 4,890 square-foot, three-level modern home has it all. The architecturally-significant retreat designed by Daniel Hunter, AIA, is approached through a lush, tropic-inspired garden and floating entry bridge leading to a dramatic foyer and central staircase with curved glass walls. The home's interiors feature grand entertaining and living spaces, four bedrooms—including a spacious and completely private master suite—media room, exercise room, pool room, a sleek open-plan kitchen and a detached guest suite currently used as a virtual reality golf course where the grass is guaranteed to always be greener. Outdoor living spaces offer a plethora of lifestyle and entertaining options, from a swimming pool with expansive terrace and poolside lounge area, to a verdant garden terrace with al fresco dining area, to a level turf athletic green. Ideal for a young professional, family or the avid host who aims to please, this rare residence feels a world away from it all just minutes from San Francisco's tech, finance and venture capital epicenter. For the cryptocurrency investor, the Seller will accept Bitcoin, Ethereum or Ripple.
